

Have Mercy

© Bart Warburton

Have Mercy, Have Mercy, Baby, on me! 'Cause from where I'm standing, tell you what I think,
You got everything you need, but the kitchen sink

I went and bought that lady a basket of fruit; She says, "I want the whole tree, not just one ap-ri-coot"

So I planted her an orchard with my own bare hands. She said, "That's just a patch of dirt, man, that ain't no land."
GO TO REFRAIN, then REFRAIN AGAIN FOR PIANO SOLO

My baby got a sweet tooth, like to clean my bank account
Every sweet thing that I give her, well, she puts it in her mouth

I give her every kind of candy, but she gimme all her jabber,
"I want a Snickers bar with peanuts, and you give me Abba-Zabba."
GO TO REFRAIN, then REFRAIN AGAIN FOR SOLO

She drive me up the wall, talkin' 'bout a wedding ring. She said "I don't give a hoot about those silly songs you sing.

Then she stick her finger in my face and wave it in the air
She says, "You see that empty knuckle? Better put a diamond there!"
GO TO REFRAIN ONCE (no solo)

I finally give that girl a ring, but for her that ain't enough
She wants a wedding AND engagement ring, so she can show 'em off

I give her everything she wanted, but despite that matching set, she's waving both her hands and howling,
"I still got eight fingers left!"

GO TO REFRAIN TWICE

TAG: Everything you need, but the kitchen sink